DUAL CLASS SHARE STRUCTURE

AWB Limited has two classes of shares:

- A class shares – can only be issued to current wheat growers (that meet the definition of a grower in the constitution). These cannot be transferred and must be redeemed when the A class shareholder ceases to be a wheat grower. A class shares are not entitled to receive any dividends; however, they do carry other important rights giving A class shareholders control of AWB, including giving A class shareholders the ability to elect a majority of the board of directors; and
- B class shares – the only class of shares that are quoted on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX). B class shares carry rights to receive dividends and the right to elect a minority of the board of directors. They can be freely traded between wheat growers and non growers, subject to no shareholder owning more than 10% of the B class shares on issue.

VOTING RIGHTS

The voting rights for holders of each AWB share class are as follows:

A class shares – on a show of hands, the holder of an A class share has one vote and on a poll the holder has the number of votes determined by their annual grown and harvested wheat tonnage deliveries as follows:

- one vote; plus
- an additional vote if their average annual tonnage of wheat delivered to the AWB Group is more than 33 1/3 tonnes per year for the three years ending at the prior financial year; plus
- an additional vote for each 500 tonnes, or part thereof, per year of average annual tonnage delivered by the A class shareholder to the AWB Group above 500 tonnes per year for the three years ending at the prior financial year.

At 30 September 2004, there were 28,596 A class shares.

B class shares – on a show of hands, the holder of a B class share has one vote and on a poll the holder has one vote for each B class share held.

At 30 September 2004, there were 64,339 B class shareholders.

GLOSSARY

AWB Basis Pool

AWB Basis Pool is a multi-varietal pool contract. It takes advantage of the professionally managed “basis” premium achieved in the AWB National Pool and provides growers with an opportunity to establish specific international wheat prices using the Chicago Board of Trade wheat futures contracts and prevailing foreign exchange rates.

AWB Group

AWB Limited and its controlled entities.

AWB RiskAssist

AWB RiskAssist is a specialised risk management business service designed to help growers manage commodity futures and foreign exchange hedging with an AWB Basis Pool contract.

Golden Rewards

AWB Golden Rewards is a comprehensive payment and binning system for wheat marketed through the AWB National Pool and selected cash options. Golden Rewards is designed to provide pricing accuracy and market signals for Australia’s grain growers, ensuring that growers are rewarded for delivering the types of wheat demanded by AWB’s international customers. Growers have better defined financial targets to aim for in terms of higher protein content and lower screenings levels, and are no longer severely penalised if their wheat narrowly misses a minimum binning standard for one of these quality attributes.

Gross Pool Value

Gross Pool Value (GPV) is the sum of all export revenue and other value added by AWB. It represents the gross return to growers, and equates to the sum of pool returns prior to storage, handling, rail and fobbing deductions.

Gross Written Premium

Gross Written Premium (GWP) is the combined total of all base premiums from all insurance policies written in a book of insurance business over a defined period of time. Base premium is equal to the total premium charged for an insurance policy, less GST and government charges (i.e. stamp duty and fire service levy, if applicable). It is on the base premiums that commission is calculated, culminating in the Gross Profit earned by AWB Landmark over a defined period of time.

Value at Risk

Value at Risk (VaR) measures the worst expected loss that the company can suffer over a given time interval under normal market conditions at a given confidence level. It assesses this risk by using statistical and simulation models designed to capture the volatility of positions held within the trading portfolio.

VaR on a single position is calculated using the following inputs:

- The size of the position;
- The volatility of the market in which that position is held; and
- The period of time for which the position will be held

Wheat Industry Benchmark

The Wheat Industry Benchmark (WIB) is a comprehensive, rigorous benchmark that objectively measures the performance of the AWB National Pool. The WIB incorporates fundamental pricing principles and acts as a competing manager under prescribed AWBI Board policies and procedures. It assesses the primary revenues, costs and risk parameters that impact the AWB National Pool value and ultimate returns. It effectively replicates the pool model, in managing wheat exports with prescribed physical and risk management constraints, to achieve a benchmark pool value.
